Stephen F. Austin State University
Urban Forestry
Graduating, 2022

Hailing from Newton, TX, Daniel Barron was first introduced to forestry through a FFA (Future Farmers of America) competition where he excelled at plant identification. Daniel decided to choose a career in Urban Forestry to put his skill and desire to educate others about natural resources, to good use. He hopes to have a successful career in Urban Forestry once he graduates from SFA in 2022. In the mean time, to offset the hours spent learning and studying, he enjoys watching professional football with friends and traveling with his wife. Good luck to your future, Daniel!
